

PROFESSIONAL EDUCATION

Endoscopic Ultrasound (EUS) Course

Course Overview

Endoscopic Ultrasound (EUS) has emerged as an increasingly important imaging modality in gastroenterology and interventional medicine for both diagnostic and ultrasound-guided therapeutic procedures. This program is designed to provide a thorough update and understanding of the most recent advances in endosonographic technology and equipment, as well as a step-by-step guide to assisting and preparing for EUS procedures. Hands-on demonstration will be provided through a number of stations utilising Olympus ultrasound processors, echoendoscopes and needles used in FNA procedures.

Learning Objectives

- Identify the role of nurses and associates involved with EUS procedures
- Review the gastrointestinal anatomy related to EUS and discuss basic ultrasound image interpretation in a routine EUS exam
- Discuss the physics of ultrasound as it relates to EUS
- Demonstrate proper procedure room and scope set-up for EUS procedures
- Demonstrate proper use of diagnostic and therapeutic accessories
- Demonstrate proper care and handling as well as bedside cleaning and reprocessing procedures
- Review the basic concepts and roles involved with the EUS-FNA procedure
